Dry Doc Stands At King Ranch

One of the nation's best young horse stallions, Dry Doc, purchased by King Ranch of Texas. The announcement was made May 26, by Stephen J. "The King Ranch General Manager."

Dry Doc who won the National Young Horse Association Futurity in 1971, was purchased from the banker and businessman, Perry Warren and from M.L. Carter, Fairhaven, Michigan. The horse became a part of the King Ranch's program of breeding the best of stallions that includes the NCHA Open World Champion, Dry Doc, and Perry Warren, Jr., NCHA Open World Champion.

The three stallions share the title of Champions and two of the top three stallions among them, and are ridden to these victories by Welch, the storied trainer who serves as consultant to the King Ranch's cutting horse program. The purchase of Dry Doc by King Ranch is a great addition to its cutting and to its breeding program.

curable disease in Congress. Another good example of this greed for more tax dollars are the efforts that are now afoot, and which have been muddling around in Congress since the Reagan tax cuts of five, ten and ten percent over a three year span. Speaker Tip O'Neill showed his latest plan to snatch this money away from us the other day when he suggested that tax relief be limited to $700. His idea is to lay more of the tax on the upper brackets of income tax payers, but as we all well know the Big Taxers and Big Spenders in Congress are like the Arab's camel. Durin' a bad sand storm this Arab felt sorry for his camel and let him stick his nose under his tent. The inevitable result was the animal kept pushin' until he had turned over the tent and Arab. Camel & All were unprotected. Congress giveth and Congress taketh away. If you don't keep a sharp eye on 'em. This week the National Wool Growers joined others in protestin' th' proposed changes in Estate Taxes, sayin' that American Agriculture has had more than its share of low blows in recent years and surely this one is not needed, nor necessary. Ever thine. The Editor. P.S.; Uncle Dunk says th' way Gov. Mark White handles that meeting in Austin of th' cattlemen protestin' th' failure of th' Brucellosis program legislation offers White a great opportunity to come outta this mess a knight in shining armor. White can prevent a fruitless yelling match and show great responsibility if he tells those cowmen he will indeed call a special session to head off that quarantine and better still set th' date today (Tuesday). When all those other states are litchin' to bar Texas cattle for their own selfish interests, th' seriousness of this matter can not be exaggerated. — Thassell, Brothert!

members. "The annual Headliner Award," Wilson explains, "is a commendation on individuals for outstanding contributions to the livestock publications industry."

John Armstrong, 54, is one of the livestock industry's most able and most deeply respected individuals, both nationally and internationally. His contributions have been in many areas, of great caliber.

Currently, Armstrong is editor of King Ranch executive magazine, with international responsibilities. He is managing partner of B. Armstrong Ranch, King Ranch, Texas. He is also managing editor of Hogg, Kloborg and Co. Inc., an administrative services company of Big B Ranch, Bella Vista, Ark. He is also a member of the Texas Animal Health Assn., president of the National Cattlemen's Assn., Texas Live Stock Marketing Assn., and the Texas Finance Credit Corp.

At 68, John Armstrong has a long record of industry and community leadership. He is past president of the American National Cattlemen's Assn., 1959-61; vice chairman, U.S. Farm 1980-82; chairman, National Live Stock & Meat Board's Beef Industry Council, 1982-89; chairman, Kloborg & Co. Inc., 1984-86, and as an outstanding alumnus, 1978, Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Assn., 1969-74, and president, trustees, University of Texas Foundation, 1970-76; honorary director, National Live Stock & Meat Board, 1979; member, Texas Animal Health Commission since 1978.

Armstrong was born in San Antonio, Texas, Dec. 23, 1919. His mother, Henrietta (Ella) A. Larkin, was the daughter of Henrietta Kloborg, daughter of Captain Richard Kloborg, founder of King Ranch. They have sons living, Charles M. and Stewart, and one deceased, Thomas T. Armstrong.

In his own ranching operation, Armstrong was one of the early King Ranch breeders to export performance testing, and had one of the Santa Gertrudis bulls to break a test record. An observer once wrote: "John Armstrong herd remarks: 'This is one of the most functionally sound herds I have seen.'"

When King Ranch was setting up Florida Big B operation, Armstrong directed much of the selection seedstock. Due to the thousands of females needed, this became one of the largest and most demanding assignments ever in the industry.

This purebred Simmental cow, sired by Circle L Achilles, sells with a bull calf at side. She is bred back to Circle L Signal.

Dean Lord's Circle L Simmental has made the decision to completely disperse their purebred and percentage Simmental herd because of other business interests. Dean has always been very selective in purchasing breeding stock and when culling his own herd.

His cattle have topped many different sales in the years past. These cattle will continue to produce and be an asset to anyone's purebred herd.

Dean has sold show heifers and steers in the past and had two heifers that won their class at the 1983 Houston Livestock Show.

Intermittent showers could not dampen the spirits of the more than 800 people attending Red McCombs 5th Annual Texas Longhorn Sale and Heifer Futurity. Held on Saturday, May 14, 1983, at the Ranch just north of Johnson City, Texas, the event grossed a total of $490,700 to average $4,980.

The day began with 30 leading breeders and their consignments vying for $5,000 in premiums in the Heifer Futurity. Frank Doherty of Fort Scott, Kansas was this year's judge and awarded the prestigious blue ribbon to the Y.O. Ranch of Mountain Home, (CONT. ON PAGE 31) breeders consigning to the sale. There will be a two-day tour of area ranches prior to the sale. To join the tour call 303/852-2131.

The sale announcement states that "No Longhorn will go for more than $2,500."

For information contact Mary Lee & Tip Pinkerton, Box 1371 M #509, Ruidoso, NM 88345, 505/287-9747 or 303/852-2131; or Leck & Lisa Fuston, 4550 North Road 5 West, Monte Vista, Co. 81144, 303/852-2131.

The National Headquarters & Museum Fund Raising Sale

A Unique Sale of Registered Texas Longhorns
Friday, August 12, 1983 — 12 Noon
At The Grand Ballroom of the MGM Grand Hotel
Reno, Nevada

Plans are now underway for building a new headquarters and museum for the Texas Longhorn Breeders Association of America in the historic stockyards area of Fort Worth, Texas. The building, shown here in this art concept, will give us the most useful and impressive headquarters of any breed association. The museum, open to the public, will feature artifacts and memorabilia of the Texas Longhorn and American beef industry. Many of these historically valuable items will be donated by TLBAA members.

Sale managed by TLBAA. Auctioneering service being donated by Colonel Eddie Wood.

For more information, contact Charles Dooley, Executive Director.

HI VU ANGUS FARM

Is NOT going out of business, as has been rumored. TRUE, our acreage has been drastically reduced in sales and/or development of several small acreages, and we anticipate at least one more loss of pasture, but we'll still be producing a limited number of the performance-tested cattle we've made available for 25 years — AS GOOD AS THE BEST AND BETTER THAN THE REST. The only thing we have for immediate delivery is a group of heavy springer heifers: four daughters of "Tim" will be having their second calves by "Gem" and three daughters of Gem to have their first calves by "Junior" (the most outstanding son of Gem he's ever sired — the heifers' half-brother). Or you can contract for nine older cows to be delivered when we wean their present calves and have them safe-in-calf — to Gem and our Junior herd sire, CAN AM — about Oct. 1. So come visit and take a look. Call 817/986-2444 for appointment. You'll find when you buy our cattle, you get more than you see. WHY SETTLE FOR LESS WHEN YOU CAN HAVE THE BEST?

OUR Herd Is Certified Brucella-Free

Cattleman Gaiher

beef cattle industry, but the dairy industry. And the motion to accept the resolution was unanimous. Not one vote against it. I think the cattle industry and the beef industry are very united today in what we've seen in here. What I personally think is going to happen, I think the governor's going to play a wait and see attitude. I do think he will act in the benefit of the beef cattle industry to avert the quarantine. I do personally think that he is not going to take any action until the injunction is heard in the courthouse, and at that point make his decision as to whether he is going to call a special session to put it on the agenda. But, I do have confidence that he is going to do something with the cattle industry of the state to protect us and not let this quarantine be put into effect at that point. At the point that the quarantine will definitely go into effect and be imposed, and all court action has ceased to stop it, I think the governor will make a positive move at that point to call the legislature into session.

Jerry Morrow, executive vice president of the International Brangus Breeders Association reported:

Basically it's coming from all of the beef industry, the dairy industry, the shows, anybody interested in the beef cattle industry is interested in solving the problem. The problem is not unique to the state of Texas. I think the best comment was made by John Armstrong who said that he has worked in all areas of Brangus direction once, and then with APHIS and all the rest of them, and the last time he said he saw that many people, they were in a meeting to try to stop any kind of a quarantine. And that there isn't any compromise in the beef industry, because they have done everything to work out the best thing that they could work out, and this is it. It is not a compromise, it's just a matter of acceptance.

Well, the impressive part of today's meeting was the unified action of the beef industry, the dairy industry, livestock shows, the USDA and the Texas Animal Health Commission. The fact that everyone was here. Speakers from all segments of the industry, which does not just include the purebred industry but also the dairy industry. Probably as good a speech that was made, was made by a small commercial person who had 60 cows and worked part time to support a growing ranch operation, and the fact that he is a young person started and fulfilled all the requirements of the purebred program and has a clean herd, and now is being jeopardized because of a few people. As one person said, 100% of the cattle in the state need to comply with the rule, and not 99% indicating that 1% of the rules that doesn't want to follow the rules that were put down by all the United States, not just Texas. And the fact that Jeffers from Amarillo Auction Market was here stating that 70% of all of the females that go through the largest auction barn in the world go out of the state of Texas, so that very probably the commercial stocker market in the state of Texas would be lowered by 30 cents a pound.

Then John Armstrong stating that he has spent a major part of his life working on the purebred program, and that they have worked out the proper solution that there is no compromise in it and the fact that the state has to pass a bill and get on with their business because there is no alternative.

I think that this is the major part of it, and they are going to meet with Governor Mark White, and I think he understands now that his tie-in with several people can't keep him from supporting the 99% of the livestock industry in the state of Texas.

Gen. Kuykendall, executive vice president of the International Brangus Breeders Association reported:

Basically, I think what we've seen here today is the purebred industry as a whole, the leaders of the breeders of the state and national associations that are located in the state of Texas have finally joined together in a large turnout here that I think proved to be very successful. I think it indicated to the governor and his Department of Agriculture people that attended the meeting that we were serious and we want to try to get something accomplished that is going to keep a quarantine away from the state of Texas. Plus the fact that it's going to force the Senate and/or the Legislature into a special session to consider a bill on brucellosis, and I think we're going to get one passed that's going to be useful for the people of the state of Texas, all the cattle producers and his dairy, etc. It was a great show of strength, and the governor seemed to be very receptive. I would say that it got some action because within an hour's time, a committee of people that were at the meeting are meeting with the governor. So, I think right now it looks terrific.

One of the things that I think everyone needs to be concerned about, all cattle in the state of Texas, whether it be beef or dairy, that when this comes up in a special session, that every cattleman needs to call his representative and his senator and indicate to them the need to pass a bill so we can go ahead and operate like we should be doing.

I don't think we will have any problem getting this on the agenda for a special session, if and when one is called. I think the important thing is that we don't let the thing die now. All the people need to keep this in mind, and get on top of their representatives and senators in their area so we can get something passed. Don't slack up just because we had a meeting and kind of got the ball rolling.

Supreme Court Holds Windfall Tax Legal

The Supreme Court Monday held that the windfall profits tax on oil was Constitutional. It is a unanimous decision.

A Wyoming judge had ruled the tax illegal because it was a blow to oil producers and royalty holders in oil-producing states. Efforts are now being made in Congress to extend to gas producers a similar profit tax, should the Supreme Court ruling be accepted.
